IRVING H. LEVIN
President

Participation in a National Basketball Association championship, involvement in a precedent-setting franchise exchange and a successful background in the motion picture industry are among the impressive credentials owned by Clippers president Irv Levin.

In addition, he will once again serve as Chairman of the Board of Governors of the National Basketball Assocation, having been re-elected for an unprecedented fourth time this past June.

As majority owner of the Boston Celtics in 1976, Levin shared in the fun and glory of an NBA championship. A key player on that title team was Paul Silas, now player-coach of the Clippers.

Levin supplied more drama when in 1978 he exchanged franchises with John Y. Brown. Levin acquired the Buffalo Braves and moved that franchise to San Diego, thus bringing the Clippers into existence.

His career in the motion picture industry has been equally outstanding. Levin's successful business career includes various executive capacities in the production, distribution and exhibition phases of the motion picture industry, and his contributions have earned many honors and awards, including the prestigious Motion Picture Pioneer of the Year Award in 1970.

Levin re-entered the theatre exhibition industry in 1979 when he purchased the entire stock and ownership of Hawaii's Royal Theatre circuit, the second largest cinema circuit in the Hawaiian Islands.

The Clippers' president entered the motion picture industry following World War II, when he served as a Captain with the 8th Air Force. He flew 31 missions in the European Theater of Operations and was awarded the distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters.

HAROLD A. LIPTON
Executive Vice President

Harold Lipton, part owner of the Clippers, and Irv Levin have been partners in the ownership of National Basketball Association teams since 1967, when along with Sam Schulman, they founded the Seattle SuperSonics.

Lipton and Levin then acquired the Boston Celtics, where they won an NBA championship. They operated that franchise until the switch with Buffalo Braves owner John Y. Brown in 1978.

In addition to his involvement with professional athletics, Lipton has an extensive background in amateur sports. He is vitally concerned about the capability of American athletes to compete on an equal basis with athletes from other countries in the Olympics.

In that regard, Lipton has served with the Finance Consulting Group to the President's Commission on Olympic Sports.

Lipton is a graduate of Harvard Law School and is an active alumnus of that school. His legal practice has ranged from New York to the position of general counsel and first vice president of the National General Corporation, a post he resigned in 1972.

At present, he is of counsel with one of the largest Beverly Hills law firms, Kaplan, Livingston, Goodwin, Berkowitz, and Selvin.

LOU LENART
Vice President, Director of Operations

RINGTHEBELL.org on Archive.org

Lou Lenart was named Vice President, Director of Operations on June 6, 1980 and in that assignment is responsible for the day-to-day management of the franchise.

A longtime associate of Clippers president Irv Levin, Lenart had previously served as Executive Assistant to the President of the NBA club.

In addition to an association with Levin in Group L Productions, a motion picture production company, Lenart has served as Director of Marketing for a division of the Hughes Corporation. Subsequently he was president of a large Los Angeles based company engaged in the construction of public works projects.

He is a graduate of the "Executive Management Program" in UCLA's graduate school of business administration.

During World War II, Lenart served as a fighter-pilot in the United States Marine Corps. He enlisted as a Private in the Marine Corps in 1940 and advanced through the ranks to win a field commission as 2nd Lieutenant. A Captain at the end of the war, he became the Staff Officer to the Commanding General of the Marine Air Groups on Okinawa.

HAL CHILDS
Vice President, Director of Communications

RING THE BELL TV on Archive.org

Hal Childs, a veteran of 25 years in sports public relations and administration, was promoted to the position of Vice President, Director of Communications on June 6, 1980.

He joined the Clippers as Director of Public Relations in August of 1978 and will continue to perform in that capacity for the NBA club.

In addition, he will assume additional duties in the areas of relations with the National Basketball Association office and other teams in the league.

Childs has previously been associated with the Golden State Warriors, as Assistant General Manager/Director of Public Relations, and the Seattle SuperSonics, as Director of Public Relations, in the National Basketball Association.

Prior to joining the Clippers, Childs was Director of Public Relations for the Seattle Mariners of the American League and was involved in the start of that franchise.

LON LEVIN
Assistant Vice President

Lon Levin joined the Clippers in September of 1979 as administrative assistant and was promoted to the position of assistant vice president on June 6, 1980.

In his role as assistant vice president, Levin assists Lou Lenart, vice president, director of operations, in the day to day management of the franchise and is also responsible for the advertising function within the Clippers organization.

Levin is also actively involved in Group L Productions, a motion picture production company located in Los Angeles.

A former high school athlete at Beverly Hills high school, where he participated in basketball, football, track and baseball, Levin is a 1974 graduate of UCLA, with a degree in Graphic Arts.

Upon graduation, he pursued a free lance advertising and illustrating career before moving to San Diego in 1977. He entered the construction industry in the areas of advertising and marketing for Joelen Enterprises.

PAUL MENDES
Director of Ticket Operations

Mendes was one of the original Clippers employees when the franchise shifted from Buffalo in 1978.

He joined the Clippers in July of that year as Administrative Assistant and performed that assignment for one season. Then, prior to the 1979-80 campaign, he added the duties of Director of Ticket Operations.

In addition to the normal duties of directing the Clippers ticket operation, Mendes is the liasion for all activity and communication between the Clippers and the San Diego Sports Arena.

He was a four-year baseball letterman at the University of San Diego from 1974 through 1978 and in his senior season was named the team's Most Valuable Player.

Mendes played in the NCAA Division II College World Series for USD that season and was married to his wife Karen during the World Series, flying home after the first game for the ceremony and then returning to Springfield, Ill. for the second game of the tournament after the marriage.

He was also Sport Information Director during the four years he spent at the University of San Diego, where he majored in Religious Studies.

STEVE LEES
Director of Marketing

Steve Lees joined the Clippers just prior to the start of the 1979-80 season as Director of Marketing.

In that capacity, Lees directs the Clippers marketing and promotional programs and is also responsible for pre-game and halftime entertainment.

Prior to joining the Clippers, Lees was Director of Sales and Promotions for the San Diego Sockers and in that capacity boosted season ticket sales ten-fold.

He also spent two years in the athletic public relations department at Ohio State University.

Lees is a graduate of Kansas University with a degree in Marketing and has a Masters in Journalism/Public Relations from Ohio State.

In addition, Lees also received a Law degree from Ohio State.

Lees, 29, and his wife Robin have three youngsters, Oliver, 5; Michael, 2; and Stacy, 6 weeks.

PAUL SILAS
Head Coach

Paul Silas makes his coaching debut this season after 16 campaigns as one of the winningest players in the National Basketball Association.

He retired as an active player on September 19, 1980 needing just 17 games to establish an NBA record for most games played. He participated in 1,254 regular season contests and was just 16 games back of former Boston Celtic teammate John Havlicek.

His accomplishments as a player are truly remarkable. Foremost is having played on three NBA championship teams, with Boston in 1973-74 and 1975-76 and with Seattle in 1978-79.

Silas has scored 11,782 points and grabbed 12,357 rebounds during his professional career. He joins Bill Russell and Nate Thurmond as the only players scoring more than 11,000 NBA points with more rebounds than points to their credit.

Since joining the St. Louis Hawks as a second round draft choice from Creighton University in 1964, these are some of his achievements:

* Played on seven regular season divisional championship teams.
* Has been in the playoffs 14 times in 16 seasons.
* His teams have posted a .554 (93-75) winning percentage in post-season play.
* His teams have won 50 or more games in regular season eight times and 60 or more games twice.
* His teams have averaged 50 wins per season for 16 campaigns.

His assets as a player figure to be just as valuable to Silas in his first coaching assignment. He's a leader, believes in fundamentals and stresses a team-oriented style of basketball.

Silas was a prep star at McClymonds High School in Oakland, California before earning All-America honors at Creighton.

He has twice been selected to play in the NBA All-Star Game.

BILL WESTPHAL
Assistant Coach

Bill Westphal joins the Clippers as assistant coach after seven seasons as head coach at Occidental College.

In those seven seasons, Westphal compiled an overall record of 111-77, posted a Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference mark of 64-20 and captured three SCIAC championships.

Westphal's Tigers won conference titles in 1974-75, 1975-76 and 1979-80. His teams never had a losing season in SCIAC play in seven campaigns and his best overall seasons were 1975-76 and 1976-77 when Occidental owned 21-7 marks.

Prior to the coaching assignment at Occidental, Westphal coached three seasons at Glendale High School. He took a team that was 4-18 and in three years boosted the record to 23-4 and a fifth-place CIF ranking.

His own playing career started at Aviation High School in Manhattan Beach, where he averaged 22 points per game as a senior, earned all-CIF honors and was named South Bay Player of the Year.

From there, Westphal went to the University of Southern California and was named the Trojans' Most Improved Player in 1965 and Most Inspirational Player in 1966.

He played two seasons with the Athletes in Action following his collegiate career before entering the coaching profession.

Among his honors as a coach are being selected Coach of the Year in District 6 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches in 1976 and 1980 and Foothill League Coach of the Year at Glendale High School in 1973.

Westphal's brother Paul is an All-Star guard in the NBA.

PETE BABCOCK
Assistant Coach/Director of Scouting

He will have primary responsibility for the organization of the Clippers college scouting effort and will personally do much of that scouting of collegiate talent.

The 31-year old Babcock will also be responsible for scouting NBA opponents.

Babcock previously scouted for the Lakers, Jazz and most recently the Bucks and received a personal recommendation from Milwaukee coach Don Nelson when being considered for his present position.

He coached at Greenway high school in Phoenix, Arizona the past three seasons, compiling a 36-31 record and has been coaching in the high school ranks since 1971.

The Clippers Director of Scouting attended Maryvale high school in Phoenix and Glendale Community College in the same city.

Babcock is a graduate of Arizona State University with a political science major. He originally was pursuing a career in law at the University of Arizona, but soon decided to enter the coaching field and left law school in 1971 to return to Maryvale high school as an assistant coach.

Babcock is married and he and his wife Yolanda have a seven-year-old daughter Amy.
